PROGRAM

VAZER ALP - ROSSFALLENSPITZ - NAPOLEON - HALDENSTEINER CALANDA - VAZER ALP

Together we go by car to the Vazer Alp. From there the varied hiking and climbing starts. First across the steep meadow without a path on the Berger Calanda then along the ridge onto the Rossfallenspitz. With several short ascents and descents we reach Napoleon mostly along the ridge. The Napoleon is not shown in the national map, but its altitude is about 2730m. We abseil briefly and then climb up again into the gap (Lugga) and continue to the Tamin flank. Now the terrain becomes easier again and we soon reach the Haldensteiner Calanda.

After a well-deserved rest on the summit, we descend via the red-white marked hiking trail to the Vazer Alp.
